The Fox-Wolf Happiest Hour Returns October 2nd

Now Accepting Nominations for the 2025 Community Impact Awards

APPLETON , WI – This fall, neighbors, partners, and changemakers from across the region will gather to celebrate the wins that keep local water quality moving in the right direction. The Fox-Wolf Watershed Alliance will host its annual Happiest Hour on Thursday, October 2 at The Hillside at Plamann Park in Appleton.

The event highlights clean water progress across the Fox-Wolf watershed, with a focus on the people behind it. From volunteers and farmers to teachers and local businesses, the Happiest Hour shines a light on those making a difference where it matters most.

Guests can expect an evening filled with stories, connection, and a few high-fives. This is a celebration of the progress we've made together and the momentum that's still building.

Tickets are available now:

$20 early registration through August 31

$30 general admission beginning September 1

Nominations are now open for the 2025 Community Impact Awards, which honor individuals and organizations working to improve water quality throughout the region. Whether it's leading a conservation project, improving stormwater practices, or building community awareness, every action counts.

"If you know someone who's making a real difference for local water, we want to hear their story," said Jessica Schultz, Executive Director of Fox-Wolf.

Community Impact Awards recognize those in agriculture, education, municipal leadership, volunteer service, and community collaboration. Nominations are being accepted through August 21st.
