Dan Chippeaux has a passion for helping people understand and navigate the ever-changing world of personal financial planning. After working with a wide variety of clients over the years, he focuses on guiding people through the retirement planning process. Dan is also a volunteer advocate dedicated to assisting qualified senior veterans and their spouses with attaining benefits related to affording long-term health care.

Discover Little-Known Options for Long-Term Care

Thursday, June 28

Presentation at 6:00 p.m.

Oak Park Place
421 Erie Road, Green Bay

The first question asked when considering long-term care is “who will pay for it?” There is not one answer – or one solution. Join us as Dan Chippeaux clears away the confusion about the options available for long-term care: how to find the best solution for your needs and how to maximize your investments to plan for care before a crisis occurs.

Topics include:
- LTC statistics – future projections
- Maximize Social Security and survivor benefits
- Bridging LTC needs versus income options
- Life insurance conversion to LTC money
- LTC savings plans to double or triple your money for LTC
- Life insurance/LTC hybrids
- Veteran benefits available
- Taxes in retirement

Space is limited.
Please RSVP by Tuesday, June 26.
