Mike and Heaven Daniels Will Host Touchdowns for Hope Charity Gala on October 5
Annual event supports House of Hope, a Green Bay emergency shelter

Green Bay, Wis. – Mike Daniels of the Green Bay Packers and his wife, Heaven, will again host Touchdowns for Hope, an annual fundraising gala that supports House of Hope allowing the shelter to serve pregnant and parenting youth and their children year-round.

Attended by a number of Packers players, the event is scheduled for Friday, October 5, 2018, 6-11 p.m. at Oneida Golf and Country Club and is celebrating its ninth year as the local nonprofit’s signature event. House of Hope provides immediate shelter to local young families and offers programming to help moms age 18-24 become confident adults and independent, successful parents.

“Heaven and I are proud to call Green Bay our home and we’re honored to continually advocate for House of Hope and its mission,” Mike Daniels said. “This year’s Touchdowns for Hope is more important than ever as the House grows and helps more families find hope.”

Dedicated to volunteering her time to help the event succeed, Heaven Daniels holds Touchdowns for Hope near and dear to her heart.

“I’ve been called to be a mother and support system for my own family,” Heaven Daniels said. “Our community’s young parents and children deserve a support system of their own and the funds from this event provide that support.

House of Hope, which opened in 2000, has helped hundreds of local families find safe, stable housing, employment, giving them a positive future to look forward to.

“Since our start, we’ve seen the most inspirational transformations in young moms,” Shannon Wienandt, House of Hope director, said. “We cannot thank our supporters enough, including the Daniels family, for granting us the resources to make those transformations happen.”

Some sponsors of the event include BayCare Clinic, Cornerstone Foundation of Northeastern Wisconsin, K.C. Stock Foundation, Schneider National Foundation, Schreiber Foods, Tweet Garot Mechanical, Green Bay Packers Foundation, Johnson Bank, U.S. Venture, and many more.

Guests dress in cocktail attire and there will be silent and live auctions along with a raffle. Those who cannot attend, but would still like to bid on auction items, can do so online. To attend or become a sponsor, visit the Touchdowns for Hope website.
