For Immediate Release – Oct. 1, 2018

Women in Leadership
Register now for new series starting Nov. 13

Green Bay – A new series of Women in Leadership, hosted by Prevea Health and led by Kavita Carlson, LCSW, will begin Nov. 13, 2018 at the Prevea Health executive office building located at 2710 Executive Dr. in Ashwaubenon.

Women in Leadership is a one-of-a-kind program in Northeast Wisconsin - developed by Carlson in 2004 - to allow leaders from different organizations explore strategies that will advance their career goals and positively impact their teams and work environment. Attendees build trusting relationships and consult on sensitive leadership issues, including how their own personalities impact their work.

The seminars take place in a small, confidential group setting with the same leaders in attendance each month. Each provides the opportunity to learn, discuss and apply newfound knowledge to real-life situations. Monthly meetings build on each other in terms of both content and relationships.

Attendees commit to six monthly group meetings (Nov. 13, Dec. 11, Jan. 8, Feb. 12, March 12 and April 9) that include:
• A leadership assessment with individualized feedback on their assessment results
• Personalized development goals
• Peer consultation on issues specific to their work setting and leadership style
• Leadership skills enhancement
• Their own copy of a best-selling leadership development book

Kavita brings 30 years of combined experience in solution-focussed leadership development, change management, team development, conflict resolution, self-awareness training and effective communication. She is also trained and experienced in leader assessment and development. Kavita capitalizes on individuals’ skill-sets for their betterment and the benefit of their organization.

The cost for the six-month series is $700; or, $400 for those representing non-profit organizations. Registration is required by Oct. 31, 2018. To register and to learn more, visit: www.prevea.com/womeninleadership
