Hoffman Leadership Active in the Community
Veldt, Ulman named to community boards

(Appleton, Wis.) – Two members of the Hoffman Planning, Design & Construction, Inc. ownership team have added to their community involvement resumes. Clay Veldt has joined the board of the Trout Museum for the Arts, while Chad Ulman is now part of the CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates) of the Fox Cities board of directors.

“We certainly encourage all of our employees to be active and give back to the community; Clay and Chad are two excellent examples,” said Sam Statz, Hoffman president and majority owner. “We are also proud of our company’s commitment and involvement in the communities where we live and serve.”

Veldt, Hoffman’s vice president of business development, is also a member of the Wisconsin Assisted Living Association board of directors and is a past board member for Rebuilding Together Fox Cities.

Ulman is vice present of architecture at Hoffman. In addition to being named to the CASA of the Fox Cities board, he also serves on the board of directors of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) Wisconsin and is a member of the Fox Cities Convention & Visitors Bureau Grants Committee.
