Wells Fargo Stagecoach Appears at KI Company Picnic in Celebration of Employee Ownership

GREEN BAY, Wisc. (September 25) -- It was a trip back in time for KI employees as they climbed into a Wells Fargo stagecoach and snapped photos on cell phones. But it was also a look into a promising future.

Displayed in front of the company's Green Bay headquarters, the stagecoach served as a reminder of the financial opportunities and security offered by 100-percent employee ownership of the company through an Employee Stock Ownership Program.

The program, which Wells Fargo and several other banks helped make a reality, provides employees the opportunity to share the benefits of stock ownership while laying out a long-term plan for the business. Full employee ownership encourages staff to think like an owner and encourages employee input to ensure the success and growth of the company.

The picnic and stock plan are examples of the many ways the company embraces its employee owners. From flexible work schedules and onsite wellness facilities to financial support of continuing education, KI offers employees a strong work/life balance and rewarding career opportunities.

About KI
KI manufactures innovative furniture and architectural wall system solutions for education, healthcare, government and corporate markets. The employee-owned company is headquartered in Green Bay, Wisc. and operates sales offices and manufacturing facilities in the United States, Canada, Latin America, Europe and Asia. KI tailors products and service solutions to the specific needs of each customer through its unique design and manufacturing philosophy. For more information, visit www.ki.com.